Woman Died in Ambulance.

Mrs. Mary Jane Price, 25 years old, was found unconsclous in her room at No. 190 South Broadway at 5 o'clock yesterday aftern on, and died in an ambulance before reaching the City Dispensary. Her face and neck turned almost black shortly after dee h. Sidney B. Erice, her husband, is held at the Central District Station pending an investigation.

Reverses came upon him, however, and he lost his fortune. Until two years ago he made his how with his son, Martin Kautman, Jr., of Central. Then, the younger Martin died and he has since been depending on other children. They found it inconvenient to keep him and he is now seeking admission to the institution at St. James, Mc.

Kaufman served in the State Militia during the Civil War under Colonel Alexander McElhinney, but neglected to secure his honorable discharge, necessary to gain admittance. His visit to Clayton was for the purpose of enlisting the aid of Judge John McElhinney, was absent and he visited Henry P. Wolff, a G. A. R. veteran, who directed him how to preceed.

MINE EXPLOSION'S VICTIMS NUMBER 235.

Negro Workman the Hero of Underground Disaster Which Occurred at Hanna, Wy.

SAVED LIVES OF FELLOWS. NIXON STILL IS PRESIDENT.

Alley on Seventeenth Level It Is Believed Is Responsible . for Calamity.

Hanna, Wyo., July 1.-Of 282 men who went into the Union Pacific Coal Company's Hanna, Wyo., July 1.—Of 282 men who went into the Union Pacific Coal Company's No. 1 mine yexterday morning, 225 were killed by the explosion of black damp that occurred at 10.29 yexterday. Most of the dend are Finlanders and negroes.

It has been decided that the explosion was caused by black damp which gathered by the directors and effects of the insol. No. 1 mine yesterday morning, 225 were killed by the explosion of black damp that a a small alley off the seventeenth level. where the circulation became defective from ome unknown cause.

A miner went in with his lamp, not knowng about the existence of the deadly gas, and ignited the explosive. Probably no trace of the unlucky miner will ever be ound, for he was surely blown to atoms. William Christian, a negro, is the hero of brought to the surface, but could have made his way out himself had he not remained behind to assist his more unfortunate com-behind to assist his more unfortunate companions.

He was breaking down coal in a small chamber off the entry when the explosion occurred. He was knocked down by the concussion, but was only dazed. The mine was filled with a sheet of flame for a minute. He ran to the slope and saw some miners lying on the floor, many writhing in the death struggle, while others had been killed outright. Christian rushed down the slope toward the rear shaft, but soon the gas burned out and the mine was in laky darkness. He groped about, falling over the prostrate forms scattered along the slope. CARRIED TO SAFETY.

Some of these raised up as he passed. They were able to talk, and the plucky miner urged them to follow him. A few did this, and he carried several to places of safety, from which they were later re-moved to the surface by the relief party. He is not certain how many men he saved in this manner, but he believes he carried

He is not certain how many men he saved in this manner, but he believes he carried out at least a dozen. Some of the rescued miners say he did even better than this.

He spent the night in the care of a physician, but to-day Joined the force of miners and others engaged in the removing of the debris from the workings.

In some instances the entire male membership of families is among the victims of the disaster. James Wilds, father, and Jube Wilds and James Wilds, Ir., sons, were working together near the seventeenth level. Oscar Olef and Jacob Jacobson, brothers, and the sole support of a widow and two little sisters, were killed below the twenty-first level.

Tom Davis, one of the dead men, was one of the best-known miners in Wyoming. He had charge of the electric hoists, and was caught below the seventeenth level.

An expert, who went almost to the seventeenth level, says the mine cannot possibly be cleared for a month. It is feared that men in the lower levels were torn to pleces by the explosion. Great timbers were hurled high over the town and 1.700 feet beyond the mouth of the slope.

Among the dead is Alfred Hapgood, who turned the first shovel of dirt in starting the slope. The fire hosses, who had reported all safe before working time yesterday, met death while making a second inspection.

Mis. Nevada Costley, the physician, of No. 2841 Frankin avenue, is still detained by the police, pending the result of the inquest. She stated vesterday that her daughter will be home from Raymond, ill., and will surely be a witness in her behalf to-day.

Mis. Costley says Miss Pear's death is due to an accident she sustained while alone at the Costley home with Miss Costley. Mrs. Costley says she was at a suburban garden at the time.

It was learned yesterday that Miss Peat and "Lord" Barrington were not at the home of Miss Hopkins. No. 822 North Garrison avenue, at the same time.

Miss Hopkins stated that Barrington roomed at her house last fall and that Miss Peat did not come there until spring. Miss Hopkins declares that Miss Peat was not a bearder in the true sense of the word, but that she was induced by friends to take the young woman in and give her a home.

The Judge's language concerning the subsidinry companies was as follows:

"The receiver, it should be understood, will have no control over the sub-sidiary companies except as they may be tound in the possession of the defendant."

Before the appointment was announced
Charles G. Deming, for the defendant company, said that he had no suggestion to Washington, July 1-Eighteen beards-black, brown and strawberry blond-vanished from the faces of as many men to-day in thirty minutes under the skillful razor of Paul Di Marzo, who hangs out his sign at No. 478 Pennsylvania avenue. Such a feat Washington. Just thirty minutes after the lather was slapped on the first man time was called and eighteen men walked out of Di Marzo's shop meditatively rubbing their Di Marzo's shop meditatively rubbling their chins.

The first beard up went down in one minute and thirty seconds. Wielding his razor with long, swift strokes. Di Marzo increased his pace until he shaved the sixth man in fifty-eight seconds.

The hardest beards came when all the young men were used up and the wrinkle-tacea old fellows were tumbled into the chair. Two minutes and twenty-five seconds was the longest time given to any one man and the razor on his beard made a noise like a good-sized buzz saw.

While the fourteenth man was being shaved it was discovered that all the invited guests had had their beards removed. A dive into the crowd and the owner of a senagey beard was rushed into the chair protesting that he did not want to have his hair cut. None was cut, however, not even clipped. It was with difficulty that one old feliow was restrained from paying for his shave.

BEATEN TO DEATH WITH CLUB. Aged Woman Murdered Near Kin

nison, I. T., While at Home. Vinita, I. T., July 1.-Details of a revolt

ing crime were related in Commissioner Fields's court here last night. The story as related thous that Cynthia Johnson, ar aged widow, who lived near Kinnison, had been found alone by her slayer, who attacked her with a club and beat her almost to death. He then shot her twice and she fell dead. He left the house and hid in the brush, and is still at large. Mrs. Johnson was a widow of some means Mrs. Johnson was a widow of some means and her money was found in her home unmolested. She had a son and daughter who resided with her, but they were away at the time of the killing, and when the daughter, who came home first, arrived at the gate, she found their mother dead in the yard.

Hogs had attacked and eaten the corpse until it was beyond recognition. Excitement runs high at Kinnism, and if her slayer is arrested it will be difficult for the officers to prevent mob violence.

land, Frank Boedecker, William Fisher and land, Frank Bossecker, William Fisher and C. W. Bechtel.
Louis A. Steber, their attorney, attacked the ordinance, claiming that it is not sufficiently definite; that the imposing of restrictions is an assumption of legislative functions, and that condemnation of a dairy under the ordinance is not a due process of law, and constitutes depriving a person of property without due process of law.

The matter was argued some time ago and was taken under advisement by the court.

and was taken under advisement by the court.

Judge Pollard decided against all the objections that were raised, and sustained the ordinance in all its particulars.

He decided that a conviction under the ordinance was not acting without due process of law, as there could be no conviction without a trial, in which the accused had an opportunity of presenting his side of the case.

He held that it was only a question of proof, and ordered the cases to be tried.
